Organization & Duties

Introduction

The Gazetteers contain information of great strategic importance. Their great importance is clear from the fact that the Prime Minister of India in his speech in the Lok Sabha (April 28, 1965) quoted from different Gazetteers to corroborate the fact that the Rann of Kutch formed a part of India. So the Gazetteers, whether it is District Gazetteers, or State Gazetteers or Indian Gazetteers, are indeed of a national asset. It offers considerable scope for research. As aptly pointed out by the International Documentation Centre, Sweden, "The Indian Gazetteers are an incomparable collection of research material and a necessary source of information for all studies concerning the History and Culture of India." The Documentation Centre of some foreign countries have spent a large sum of money on microfilming the entire series-old and new-of Gazetteers is thus recognised even in foreign countries.

A Gazetteer literally means a geographical index or a geographical dictionary. Its scope is however much wider. It presents, in a limited range and in a readable manner, a comprehensive view of a country and its people. It describes the physical features of a region, relates its history and discusses the social, political and economic life of the people inhabiting it. It thus serves as a guide to the administrator, a reference book for the general public and a source of information for the specialist. The Gazetteers, specially the District Gazetteers, are a repository of authentic information. The need for the preparation of a chronicle in which complete information about a district would be incorporated received the attention of the Government as far back as 1803, when the Board of Directors of the East India Company asked its officers to supply information on the basis of which it could prepare a history of its possessions in India. In 1872 actual preparation of what was then called the "Imperial Gazetteer of India" was undertaken by the Government of India. The compilation of a Gazetteer for each district was taken and the publication was spread over a period of ten years commencing from 1874. An alphabetical Gazetteer in two volumes for the whole province of Avadh (Oudh) which came to be known as the 'Gazetteer of the provinces of Oudh' was also issued. The revision of these Gazetteers was undertaken in 1901, when a separate volume for each district was prepared and the alphabetical arrangement being given up. Supplementary Volumes of these District Gazetteers were published in 1915, 1926 and 1934. The need for revising the Gazetteers was widely felt after the achievement of Independence and Uttar Pradesh entered the field in 1957. The Government has undertaken the re-writing rather than the mere revision of the Gazetteers because the earlier ones were brought out over 50 years ago and the period since then has seen a number of significant changes in the circumstances of life as well as social and other values having changed considerably. The presentation of the account is new in terms of a synthesis of the larger context of life as it obtains today.

Under this scheme the District Gazetteers Department was established in the State of Uttar Pradesh in the year 1957. In the beginning the District Gazetteers Department was a centrally managed scheme under which the gazetteers of 54 districts and 8 supplementary volumes were written in English. The list of which is given in the following table.

Besides the above the State Gazetteer of Uttar Pradesh has also been written in 5 volumes.

After 1980-81 this whole scheme of the Gazetteers was transferred to the State Government and since then District Gazetteers of Uttar Pradesh are all being written in Hindi. A decision has been taken to first write the newly constituted district and then the other districts, the total number of districts in the State at present number 75.

The district Gazetteers Gaziabad, Meerut, Lalitpur, Kanpur Dehat and Ferozabad have already been revised and published, the district Gazetteers of Jhansi has been sent to the press for printing after the approval of the Advisory Board.

Information for the newly constituted districts of Sone Bhadra, Maharajganj, Mau, Siddharth Nagar, Kaushambi, Mahoba, Kushinagar, Anbedkarnagar, Jyotiba Phule Nagar, Gautambudh Nagar, Mahamaya Nagar, Chandauli, Shravasti, Aurraiya and Sant Kabir Nagar is being. Writing of Shravasti Zilla Gazetteer is in progress.

2. Allotment of work

Allotment of work amongst different C.O.' s will be done by the Editor in consultation with the Team Leader.

He will also nominate a Link officer to his Team Leader who will discharge T.L.'s duty in his absence.

3. Collection of Material including Photographs :-

(a) In the beginning

When a district is taken up a set of questionnaires, will be sent to the District Magistrate by the Editor under the signatures of (HOD) Principal Editor and also asking him to appoint a senior officer as Officer-in-Charge Gazetteer and intimate his name to us for future references.

Letters' with questionnaires or relevant details to authorities which are common to all the districts and are located out of district such as Meteorological Department, Poona, Director, State Museum, etc., Will be sent by the (H.O.D.)

The Editor with the approval of the H.O.D. will plan a visit to the district with T.L. and some C.O.'s, after about a month of sending questionnaires to the D.M., address a pre-arranged meeting of the officers of the district to remove their difficulties and to get the material collected from individual offices. A meeting of non-official may also be arranged. List of photographs should as far as possible be finalized in this meeting and follow up action initiated to have them in possession.

(b) During drafting stage

The Editor will ensure that timely letters and reminders are being issued. If found necessary D.O. letters may be issued to the O/C Gazetteers or other officers of the district to expedite the collection of material.

The overall responsibility of the collection of material including the photographs rests with the Editor.

4. Editing of Chapter

After the first reading is done by the Team Leader the second reading will be carried out by the Editor with a view to improve its language, expression, sequence flow and also to ensure that all prohibited information has not been included. At other levels of editing the Editor will also ensure that suggestions received from different agencies.

5. Despatch of chapters and Sets of Draft
Chapters are sent to concerned expert members of the Advisory Board for their suggestions.
6. Guidance from expert Members
Expert members be consulted by the C.O. s' concerned for their guidance obtained. The Editor will ensure that this is implemented.
7. Sending the press Copy to press
Before sending a press copy to press, the Editor will satisfy himself that nothing remains to be done in that copy and that prescribed instructions are sent to the press with the press copy.
8. Prelims, Preface
These will be prepared by the Editor. All necessary details to be included in the preface will be put up before the H.O.D. by the Editor in the form of draft for the preparation of the final copy.
9. Work in Press
All the work in press relating to the printing of a draft and in office with the Proof Readers will be attended to by the Editor concerned. He will watch the progress of printing in the press and proof reading in the office and will draw the attention of the H.O.D. where necessary.
10. Advisory Board
All work involved for the meeting of the Advisory Board will be the Editors responsibility.

DUTIES OF TEAM LEADERS

1- Responsibility of Team Work:-

Team Leader being senior most member of the Team shall exercise authority next to the Editor of the team concerned. Subject to the control of the Editor he will be overall responsible of his Team's work and will ensure that all C.O.'s in his team are enabled to achieve their prescribed targets and complete the allotted work in the given time limit.

2. Collection of Material

(a) Collection of Material is the first and the foremost duty of a Team Leader. Timely issue of letters and reminders for wanting information will be his responsibility. He may sign the letters himself or issue them under the signature of Editor as the need may be. All D.O. letters will however, be issued under the signature of the Editor or H.O.D.

After assessing the position of material collected he will propose a tour of the C.O.'s to the district.

(b) He will ensure that the information available locally is collected in time by the C.O. concerned. He will also assist the Editor concerned in the collection work.

3. Custody and distribution of material

All material pertaining to a district will be delivered to the Team Leader who will examine it and distribute it to the C.O. concerned, (No material will be passed on to the C.O. concerned directly by the office or by Editor) . All material locally collected by the C.O. concerned will be shown to Team Leader concerned for his information and record.

4. Guidance to C.O.'s

He will afford necessary guidance to the C.O.'s particularly the new ones, in drafting a chapter and all other related work.

5. First reading of Chapters

Draft chapters submitted by C.O.'s will be carefully scrutinized by the Team Leader, before submission to Editor, the scrutiny will be to ensure that the

- (a) Chapter is according to the Central Plan.
- (b) Data and information given in the chapter is authentic and correct.
- (c) All available and relevant information and data have been incorporated and all sources have been tapped.
- (d) Draft chapter also contains bibliography, glossary and index.
- (e) Different sources and names of authorities have been properly indicated in the margin or foot note.
- (f) Chapter does not contain any grammatical and spelling errors.
- (g) No prohibited information from security point of view has been included by the C.O.'s.
- (h) While submitting a chapter to Editor, the Team Leader in his note will clearly state that he has carefully examined the chapter on all points mentioned above.

6. Compilation of Glossary and Bibliography

Team Leader will be responsible for consolidating both glossary and bibliography of the whole district and will ensure that these are consolidated before the draft gazetteer is sent to press.

7. Checking of Incorporation of Comments

Team Leader will ensure that the comments received from the expert members, are carefully and properly incorporated by the C.O. concerned.

8. Custody of chapters and preparation of sets of Drafts

Team Leader will be responsible for the custody of chapters and sets of draft and will maintain a proper account of each.

The sets of drafts will be marked as follows in order of their clarity of typed impression by the T.L. immediately after they are prepared.

a. Original Impression –T.L./Editor’s Copy

All subsequent corrections, incorporations and filling in of gaps will be done in this copy. In the end this will be marked “Master Copy” by the H.O.D. from which “Press Copy” will be prepared.

b. Expert’s Set

c. District Magistrate Set

9. Preparation of Press Copies

He will be responsible for the preparation of one ‘Press Copy’ from the ‘Master Copy’ and this work will be done with meticulous care. This copy will be marked ‘Press Copy’ and will be handed over to the Editor for further action.

10. Allotment of work amongst C.O’s.

He will distribute the work among the C.O.’s with the prior approval of his Editor/H.O.D. He may also obtain the assistance of C.O.’s for any of his work, if necessary.

11. Other work

Team Leader will also attend to any other work entrusted by Editor or H.O.D. and may obtain the assistance of the C.O. if necessary.

DUTIES OF COMPILTION OFFICERS

Writing of chapters including appendix, bibliography, glossary, index. Prohibited information from security point of view shall not be included. preparation of a note of missing information. To ensure correct spellings of places from a list supplied to them. Collection of information locally available. Comparison of typed chapters. Incorporation of suggestions any other work entrusted by T.L. Editor or H.O.D.

I. Writing of Chapter

(1) General

This is the most important work of a C.O. and should be done with utmost care selection of material, proper presentation of facts and data in an objective way and timely completion of allotted work are the few essentials for writing a District Gazetteer.

(2) Blank spaces for wanting information

The drafts of chapters should be final and complete in all respects before they are submitted. Before beginning to write a chapter C.O. should have all the details of wanting information. Whatever available locally, should be collected preferably before writing a chapter or during the course of writing a chapter, if for certain valid reasons C.O. is unable to collect it earlier. For other wanting information he should give details of it to the team leader and should also help in timely issue of letters and reminders to the authorities concerned.

(3) Underlining words, etc.

All Hindi words not appearing in the dictionary, latin words, Names of books, journals, reports, magazines are to be underlined (if work is done in English)

(4) Revision of first draft

Drafts should be carefully revised before being put before the Team Leader. After the draft has been written out, it requires careful checking up with the sources of information and improvements in expression including removal of mistakes of grammar and spelling.

(5) Consultation of original sources

All information and data given in the chapter should be authentic. Original sources such as Acts, books of references, etc. should invariably consulted while making a mention of the information given.

(6) Central plan

The chapters should be in accordance with the central plan .

(7) Mention of sources

Sources of all data and information given in the chapter, either in the text or in tables should be carefully and fully indicated in the margin of the pages of the draft or in the foot-note. If a book or a report is referred to, its page number should also be given. In case of the information received from the district, the designation of the officer in brief should be given and the material should be available in the material file. In a statement source of information should be given below it but within the table. These steps are necessary to check the authenticity of the material used where necessary without difficulty.

(8) Exclusion of prohibited information from security point

Prohibited information from security point of view should not be included. A list giving details of all such information has already been given, with an order for this purpose to each C.O. In case of doubt higher officer should be consulted.

(9) Awaited information

The information falls in three categories (a) not at all received (b) received in part and (3) needed clarification. Information received should be examined and details of all the awaited information be given to Team Leader. While noting down the details, the designation or the officer concerned be given at the top and within brackets below it should be mentioned, for remaining information, for clarification and no information received as the case may be. During the course of writing a chapter some material is received it should be examined without delay and incorporated in the chapter in the time allotted by Team Leader. If after scrutiny clarification is required, the details of this be given to the Team Leader within 3 days of the information received in the manner already described above.

(10) Margin and distance between two lines

For margin of about one-third of the space for incorporation of additional information necessitated by C.Os' revision or by suggestions given by higher officers, enough space between the two lines for making out correction in the draft and also some space at the end of the page to add a foot-note, at some later stage, should be left.

(11) Spelling of places from survey maps

To ensure incorporation of correct spellings of places, rivers, mountains, etc., from survey maps is also the responsibility of the C.O. If for certain reasons the spellings could not be checked while writing a chapter these should be checked at the first available opportunity.

(12) Preparation of tables of Appendix

The tables given in the Appendix according to the central plan will be prepared by the C.O. concerned of the chapter and appended at the end of the chapter as indicated below:

Table II	Rainfall, etc.	Chapter I
Table I	Area and population	Chapter III
Table VII	Fairs	Chapter III
Table III	Statistics of Cultivation and Irrigation	Chapter IV
Table IV	Area under principal Crops	Chapter IV
Table VIII	Inspection Houses, Dak Bungalows, etc.	Chapter VII
Table IX	Dharamsalas, Hotels, etc.	Chapter VII
Table V	Receipts and Expenditure Zila Parishad Municipal Boards	Chapter XIV

A Reference to the above Tables must also be made at the appropriate place in the chapter concerned with a cross reference indication below the heading of the table in bracket as shown below:

Table I- Area and population

All other statements occurring in the body of the draft, if covering more than a typed page, should also be given at the end of the chapter.

Source of information is required to be given below each Table.

II Bibliography

All standard Books, Journals, Reports and other standard published material is required to be included in the bibliography. Full name as it appears on the books, the authors name, year and place of publication is required to be given in the bibliography.

III Glossary

All Hindi words not found in dictionary and which are underlined in the chapter are to be included in the glossary (of work if in English).

IV Index

All proper names are required to be included in the index except the following:

- (a) Names of offices and departments
- (b) Names of Acts
- (c) All designations
- (d) Name of the district under preparation
- (e) References given in foot-notes

The index should be prepared alphabetically and in block letters to avoid confusion at typist's level. Page number should also be given after the proper noun to facilitate its location in the chapter concerned. This will also help a C.O. to bring uniformity in spellings of proper nouns.

All information available locally in different offices will be collected by the C.O. concerned at the first available opportunity either before beginning a chapter or during the course of writing. All locally available information should in no case remain wanting but no material should be collected which is prejudicial to National interest .

VI Consultation with Team Leader

Team Leader is the supervisory officer of his team and has been made responsible for all the work of his team and co-ordination amongst his team members.

VII Submission of a completed Chapter

The completed chapter should be submitted along with glossary bibliography, index and details of awaited information with a note on the chapter file together with Material Cover the C.O. shall record the following certificates in his note.

Certified that

- (1) All material available has been carefully scrutinized and utilized.
- (2) Information and data has been carefully re-checked.
- (3) The draft has been revised.
- (4) Prohibited information in any from security point of view has not been given in the chapter.

- (5) Instructions given in Dos and Don'ts have been carefully followed .
- (6) Long tables covering more than a page have been appended at the end of the chapter.
- (7) Metric system of weights and measures has been used.
- (8) Compound and hyphenated words and abbreviations have been carefully checked where necessary .
- (9) The chapter conforms to the Central plan.

VII Maintenance of files

For every chapter three files shall be maintained by a

C.O. as follows-

(1) Notes & Orders File

This file shall contain only notes and orders.

(2) Material File

The File will contain all the material received collected or compiled and properly tagged. A reference of all this material be made in the margin of the chapter to facilitate checking.

(3) Chapter file

This file shall contain the manuscript file of the C.O. and extra typed copies of the chapter.

IX Comparison of typed chapters

A typed chapter should be compared with meticulous care and there should remain no typing error at the time of submission badly typed pages be returned to the typist for retype.

In respect of 'Press Copy' careful attention has to be devoted in comparison work.

X Incorporation of Suggestions

Suggestions received from the experts, etc. by the C.O. concerned. If additional information is required for meeting out the queries, it should be collected, compiled if it can be obtained locally. In case if it is to be asked for from the district authorities C.O. shall report with full details to his team leader.

XI Other work. :-

The C.O. will also attend to any other work entrusted by the T.L./Editor/H.O.D. and may obtain the assistance of the above if necessary.

Duties Head Proof Readers/ Proof Readers
